

Newsletter January 2021

What a surprising start to the week we had with snow! It has been lovely to see photos of you all enjoying the snow with your families. I know that teachers have said how excited the children were to build snowmen, have snowball fights and generally have fun in the snow.

As we near half term, thoughts go to next half term where we hope at some point we will be inviting you all back to school. However, at present we do not know when this will be. The government has however said that we all will be given 2 weeks notice when it happens.

Thank you for the parents that have submitted the feedback form about our home learning. It has really helped us to get a sense of the challenges that you face at home. We are in the process of looking at our home-schooling offer and adapting it slightly in response to your feedback. These changes will happen over the next few weeks.

As always, we consider the wellbeing of all families to be of the greatest importance. Juggling between home and work commitments, along with home learning is a big ask. It is important to consider the best balance for you between home learning and time spent to ensure everyone's wellbeing. Please do what you can at home, we understand that everyone's situation is different. We would like to say a huge thank you to everyone for all the fantastic things you are doing and congratulate you for the effort being put in with helping our children to continue with their education.

Internet safety

During lockdown more of our children are accessing the internet independently. The internet is an amazing resource which enables children and young people to connect, communicate and be creative in a number of different ways, on a range of devices. However, the internet is always changing, and being able to keep up to date with your children's use of technology can be a challenge. You may sometimes feel that your children have better technical skills than you do, however children and young people still need advice and protection when it comes to managing their lives online. Issues that your child may encounter on the internet will vary depending on their age and online activities. Some great websites to find out more information about how you can help your child are <https://www.saferinternet.org.uk/advice-centre/parents-and-carers/what-are-issues> or <https://www.thinkuknow.co.uk/> The school is always here to offer advice or point you towards useful resources if you have any concerns.
